A NEW ERA IN WASHING
Labor, Time, Clothes and Fuel Saved
BY THE USE OF WARFIELD'S
COLD WATER SELF-WASHING SOAP!
This SOAP washes the finest as well as coarsest fabrics, in cold, warm, hard, soft or salt water, without boiling or machinery, and is guaranteed not to injure clothes in the least when used according to the directions.
One good washerwoman can do more and better washing with it than two can do in the same time with the best machines, using the ordinary soaps in market.
By using it, you get rid of the annoyance of hot water in summer, and of steam in the house (so productive of colds) in winter.

$500 WILL BE FORFEITED BY DR. L. DIX if failing to cure in less time than any other physician, more effectually and permanently, with less restraint from occupation or fear of exposure to all weather, with safe and pleasant medicines.
SELF ABUSE AND SOLITARY HABITS,
Their effects and consequences;
SPECIAL AILMENTS AND SITUATIONS
Incident to Married and Single Ladies
SECRET AND DELICATE DISORDERS;
Mercurial Affections, Eruptions and all Diseases of the Skin; Ulcers of the Nose, Throat and Body; Pimples on the Face; Swellings of the Joints; Nervousness; Constitutional and other Weaknesses in Youth, and the more advanced, at all ages, of BOTH SEXES, SINGLE OR MARRIED.
DR. L. DIX'S
PRIVATE MEDICAL OFFICE,
No. 21 Endicott Street, Boston, Mass., is so arranged that patients never see or hear each other. Recollect the only entrance to his Office is No. 21, having no connection with his residence, consequently no family interruption, so that on no account can any person hesitate applying at his office.
DR. DIX
boldly asserts (and it cannot be contradicted except by Quacks, who will do or say anything, even perjure themselves, to impose upon patients) that he is the only regular graduate physician advertising in Boston.
TWENTY YEARS
engaged in treatment of Special Diseases, a fact so well known to many Citizens, Publishers, Merchants, Hotel Proprietors, &c., that he is much recommended, and particularly to Strangers and Travelers.
To avoid and escape imposition of Foreign and Native Quacks, more numerous in Boston than other large cities, proudly refers to Professors and respectable Physicians—many of whom consult him in critical cases, because of his acknowledged skill and reputation, attained through so long experience, practice and observation.
DR. L. DIX
AFFLICTED AND UNFORTUNATE!
be not robbed and add to your sufferings in being deceived by the lying boasts, misrepresentations, false promises and pretensions of FOREIGN AND NATIVE QUACKS, who know little of the nature and character of Special Diseases, and less as to their cure. Some exhibit forged Diplomas of Institutions or Colleges which never existed in any part of the world; others exhibit Diplomas of the Dead, how obtained, unknown; not only assuming and advertising in names of those inserted in the Diplomas, but to further their imposition assume names of other most celebrated Physicians long since dead. Neither be deceived by QUACK NOSTRUM MAKERS,
through false certificates and references, and recommendations of their medicines BY THE DEAD, who cannot expose or contradict them; or who, besides, to further their imposition, copy from Medical books much that is written of the qualities and effects of different herbs and plants, and ascribe all the same to their Pills, Extracts, Specifics, &c., most of which, if not all, contain Mercury, because of the ancient belief of its "curing everything," but now known to "kill more than it cures," and those not killed, constitutionally injured for life.
IGNORANCE OF QUACK DOCTORS AND NOSTRUM MAKERS.
Through the ignorance of the Quack Doctor, knowing no other remedy, he relies upon Mercury, and gives it to all his patients in Pills, Drops, &c., so the Nostrum Maker, equally ignorant, adds to his so-called Extracts, Specific, Antidote, &c., both relying upon its effects in curing a few in a hundred, it is trumpeted in various ways throughout the land; but, alas! nothing is said of the balance; some of whom die, others grow worse, and are left to linger and suffer for months or years unrelieved or cured, if possible, by competent physicians.
BUT ALL QUACKS ARE NOT IGNORANT.
Notwithstanding the foregoing facts are known to some Quack Doctors and Nostrum Makers, yet, regardless of the life and health of others, there are those among them who will perjure themselves, contradicting giving mercury to their patients or that it is contained in their Nostrums, so that the "usual fee" may be obtained for professedly curing, or "the dollar" or "fraction of it" may be obtained for the Nostrum. It is thus that many are deceived also, and uselessly spend large amounts for experiments with quackery.
charges are very moderate. Communications sacredly confidential, and all may rely on him with the strictest secrecy and confidence, whatever may be the disease, condition or situation of any one, married or single.

TO THE LADIES.—The celebrated DR. L. DIX particularly invites all ladies who need a Medical or Surgical adviser, to call at his Rooms, No. 21 Endicott Street, Boston, Mass., which they will find arranged for their special accommodation.
Dr. DIX having devoted over twenty years to this particular branch of the treatment of all diseases peculiar to females, it is now conceded by all (both in this country and in Europe) that he excels all other known practitioners in the safe, speedy and effectual treatment of all female complaints.
His medicines are prepared with the express purpose of removing all diseases, such as debility, weakness, unnatural suppressions, enlargements of the womb, also all discharges which flow from a morbid state of the blood. The Doctor is now fully prepared to treat in his peculiar style, both medically and surgically, all diseases of the female sex, and they are respectfully invited to call at

[From the Cincinnati Commercial.]
The Private Life of Washington.

It was John Adams who wrote, as late as the year 1813, "the impious idolitary to Washington destroyed all character." The allusion was to the period of his own administration, when he took the presidency, encumbered, as he thought, with the hyperbolical veneration which had been felt for his predecessor. On the other hand, Jefferson, writing in 1814, summed up the estimate which he had deliberately formed of Washington, in these words:

"His mind was great and powerful, without being of the first order, and, as far as he saw, no judgment was ever sounder. It was slow in operation, but sure in conclusion. He was incapable of fear. Perhaps the strongest feature in his character was prudence. His integrity was most pure, his justice the most inflexible I have ever known, no motives of interest or consanguinity, of friendship or hatred being able to bias his decision. He was, indeed, in every sense of the word a wise, a good, and a great man. His temper was naturally irritable and high-toned, but reflection and resolution had obtained a firm and habitual ascendency. If ever, however, it broke its bonds, he was most tremendous in his wrath. His heart was not warm in its affections. His colloquial talents were not above mediocrity, possessing neither copiousness of ideas nor fluency of words. In public, when called on for a sudden opinion, he was unready, short, and embarrassed. Yet he wrote readily, rather diffusely, in an easy and correct style."

This masterly analysis of Washington's character, by the most subtle and penetrating intellect of his times, and one who had known him intimately for thirty years, may be accepted with the more confidence as it comes from the head of an opposite school of politics. No difference of opinion, however wide and irreconcilable, could prevent Jefferson from doing impartial justice to the great qualities of Washington.

Some characteristic traits in the daily habits of this first of presidents may be here noted, as derived from a variety of scattered sources. Washington was always particular and remarkably neat in his personal apparel. During his presidency he usually wore a full black velvet suit, with silk stockings, and shoes with buckles of shining silver. His hair was powdered and tied in an elegant black queue behind. He kept extraordinarily early hours, making it his habit as well in the presidency as in the army and at Mount Vernon, to rise at 4 o'clock in the morning and to retire to bed at 9. He had a healthy man's enjoyment of the pleasures of the table. Though at no time of his life of convivial habits, he liked the cheerful converse of the social board, and at dinner (which he always had punctually served at 3 o'clock), he drank to the health of every person present, giving as his one invariable toast: "All our friends." He ate heartily, but was not particular in his diet, except as to fish, of which he was very fond, and he always ate codfish for his Saturday's dinner, having formed an attachment to that article of diet from the deliciously cooked fish he found in Boston during the New England campaign. He drank homemade beer, with four or five glasses of Maderia wine, every day at dinner. He indulged in no games of chance, except when required to make up a party at whist, in playing for a trifle. In his earlier life he was fond of dancing, and the last time he danced a minute was at a grand ball at Fredericksburg, Virginia, in 1781, in honor of the French and American officers returning from the triumphant siege of Yorktown. Tobacco, in all its forms, Washington abhorred. He was not fond of music, nor did he either play or sing.

The finest horseman of his day, Washington, always spent much of his time in the saddle. He had a love for a fine horse, and his care to secure animals of the most spirited breed, and to have them always scrupulously well groomed, was a marked trait in his character. The vicious propensities of any horse he might mount were of no moment to this daring and skillful rider.—He always said that he required but one good quality in a horse, to go along, and ridiculed the idea that he could ever be unhorsed, provided the animal kept on his legs. While President, his stables were on Minor street, below Sixth, and he kept ten fine bays and two white chargers. The latter always had their hoofs blacked and polished before the General would mount for a ride. After the horses were groomed, he would test the thoroughness of the stable boys, by applying a muslin handkerchief to their glossy coats; if the slightest stain was visible upon the white handkerchief, woe to the unlucky wight who had slighted his proper duty. When he took out Mrs. Washington for a drive, they rode in a beautiful cream colored coach, of English build, with six spanking bay horses before it.

Nothing so aggravated Washington's naturally quick temper as neglect of duty or want of punctuality. Col. Pickering relates that on occasion of a cabinet meeting the General was likely to be detained by the shoe-black beyond the exact time. The secretaries in proceeding to the appointed room for the meeting had to pass a small chamber where the President's boots were to have been placed by a certain moment. As Pickering entered he observed Washington in a stooping posture, holding the servant and belaboring him stoutly with his boots. He would always be up by daylight, and his first care was to visit his stable to see how his horses were cared for.—On one such occasion he found that the coach horses which had come home late, had not had their legs rubbed down, the mud being still on them. The General was seen, by one who informed Mr. Robert Morris, to seize his German coachman, and to discuff him with a good drubbing.

The English officers, after the war, were all loud in their praise of Washington's admirable and commanding grace on horseback, and it was a common remark that he and his horse moved as but one.

Washington never indulged in anecdote, and talked but little unless drawn out. He seldom laughed, and it was remarked by Sullivan that, at Mrs. Washington's levees, when surrounded by a bevy of sparkling, and beautiful girls, the President never unbent or dressed his face in smiles. The countenance of Washington never softened nor changed its habitual gravity. At these levees, he stood always in front of the fireplace, with his face towards the door entrance. The visitor was conducted to him, and he required always to have the name so distinctly pronounced that he could hear it. He received every visitor with a dignified bow, while his hands were so disposed as to indicate that the salutation was not to be accompanied with shaking hands. As the visitors came in, they formed a circle around the room. At a quarter past three the door was always closed, and the circle was formed for that day. He then began on the right, and spoke to each visitor, calling him by name, and exchanging a few words with him. When he had completed his circuit of the room, he resumed his first position, and the visitors approached him in succession, bowed and retired. By 4 o'clock in the evening the levee was over.

In the Ana of Mr. Jefferson we find the following curious account of Washington's first Presidential reception at New York, in 1789:

"E. Randolph tells J. Madison and myself a curious fact, which he had from Lear (Washington's private secretary.) When the President went to New York, he resisted for three weeks the efforts to introduce levees. At length he yielded and left it to Humphreys, and some others, to settle the forms. Accordingly an ante-chamber and presence-room, were provided, and when those who were to pay their court were assembled, the President set out, preceded by Humphreys. 'After passing through the inner chamber, the door of the inner room was thrown open, and Humphreys entered first, calling out, with a loud voice, 'The President of the United States.' The President was so much disconcerted that he did not recover from it the whole time of the levee, and when the compan was gone, said to Humphreys, 'Well, you have taken me in once, but, by God, you shall never take me in a second time.'"

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS.

A PROCLAMATION,

Whereas, The monument to be erected by the State of Rhode Island to the memory of her Soldiers and Sailors who fell in the late war of the Rebellion being nearly completed and a day for its dedication having been fixed by the General Assembly, it seems a fitting occasion for the people of this state to express their affection and regard for the memory of the brave men who sacrificed their lives for their country.

Therefore, by virtue of the power invested in me by law as Governor, I, Seth Padelford, do hereby issue this Proclamation, appointing Saturday, the 16th day of September inst., as a Public Holiday throughout this State, in order that all persons may have an opportunity to be present and take part in the interesting and patriotic ceremonies to be connected with this event.

Given at the city of Providence, the first day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one, and of Independence the ninety-sixth.

SETH PADELFORD.

By the Governor,
John R. Bartlett, Secretary of State.

Morning News.

Over three thousand members of the How, Hows, Howe family were present at Harmony Grove, yesterday, to help celebrate their re-union. There were representatives of the name present from every state in the Union, and many from foreign countries. A song of welcome, written by Julia Ward Howe was sung by the audience. The oration was delivered by Hon. Joseph Howe, Secretary of the Dominion of Canada. A song, written by Caroline Howe, followed. Then Mrs. Julia Ward Howe read a poem, written for the occasion, which was received with great pleasure.

A terrific hurricane has swept over the island; we were going to buy but didn't, and carried away every house on it. Of the many earthquakes and tornadoes that have visited the island of St. Thomas it has been by far the most destructive. Some six thousand people have been left, homeless and destitute and nearly a hundred and fifty persons have been killed and maugled or disabled by the houses blown down, or bricks and tiles flying thickly around during the hurricane.

The Republicans of New Hampshire are going to have an organ under their control and one which can be run purely in the interest of the party. They have recently bought out the Statesman, the Independent Democrat and Daily Monitor. These three papers are to be consolidated in one, to be published from the Statesman office, by the Republican Press Association.

At Lowell, on Sunday evening, a young lady named Mary J. Dooley, 19 years of age, recited a religious poem at the Sunday School concert of the Zion Primitive Methodist Church, and immediately fell to the floor insensible. She was conveyed to her home, where all efforts to restore her were futile, and she died on Monday evening.

Russia is said to be making vast preparations for war, understanding that a league for maintaining peace means forcible opposition against any power that can be provoked to disturb the peace.

The Cholera Travelling.

It has reached Hamburg, the great German commercial city, from which to New York, the journey is but a short one, and the conveyances many and direct. More business is carried on between New York and Hamburg than there is with any other German city. Thirteen first-class steamers and a large fleet of sailing vessels bring us within less than a fortnight of that port. And hence we can but feel that the cholera is much nearer to us now than it has yet been. Its march westward has been rapid. From Konigsburg, it was but a few days in reaching Hamburg, although between these two cities there is much less direct communication, than there is between the latter place and New York.

The authorities in New York are at last gradually waking up. They begin to fear that this dreadful calamity may come after all, and should it come, they know well that they have a good field for it to revel in. So now it is quite probable that the citizens of that benighted city may reap some of the comforts of the westward march of this destroyer, provided its progress is stayed on the other side of the Atlantic.

The prospects of the rice crop are not flattering. It is just now the season for harvesting, and the heavy rains that have lately prevailed in southern Louisiana and also on the Carolinas' coast, threaten to destroy a large portion of the crop, which is unusually fine and if successfully harvested will turn out a full average crop, although the acreage of this year is less even than the last, as the failure of last year's crop was so discouraging that planters have put in but a portion of the amount planted last year.

In a contribution to the last number of Harper, John G. Long Branch.

The 'ways and manners' of many of the young men who congregate at Long Branch and other seaside resorts are the reverse of gentlemanly or moral. 'Norval,' a well known fashion raconteur, writing about their conduct, says that at late hours of the night they 'make night hideous' with their profanity and vulgarity. When the more orderly visitors of the hotels have retired for the night, the rowdies of the class described 'strut about the hotel halls and corridors as if they were the sole occupants of the establishments, swear, use vile expressions, and brand themselves as blackguards of the most improved type. Profanity is very prevalent among these fellows.' This glimpse of the tone of morals which permits such conduct justifies the severest criticisms which may be levelled at localities like Long Branch; and it is only singular, in view of the presence of the coarse vulgarians here mentioned that respectable fathers of families should send their wives and daughters to places wherein the language of stables and of bordellos is transplanted into the piazzas and corridors of hotels.

The Telegraph Indispensable to the Safe Management of Railroads.

Upon whosoever the blame may be finally laid for the terrible accident on the Eastern Railroad on Saturday night, whether upon the conductor of either of the trains which came into collision, or the station master of the depot passed by the express, whatever facts may be elicited at the coroners inquest,—the attention of the public will be turned so the absolute necessity of guiding the running of all railroad trains by telegraph. This instrumentality should be used constantly, to denote the situation of all trains, the time at which they leave different stations, and this information being open to all the conductors the chances of accident from collision are reduced to almost nothing. On some Western railroad lines they have train despatchers, who by continual telegraphic communication are informed as to the position of every train on the road, and never start from a station without their telegraphic orders.

Seats and apartments can be secured in Wagner's Drawing Room at Kinsley's Express office. The car will be at the landing at Wickford and run on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

The Boston Transcript says that the month which has just come to an end "has been rather pleasant but very dry." We have nothing to say against the pleasant part of it, but we fail to see where the "dry" part came in.

Reunion.—We understand that a reunion of the Artillery of the Army of the Potomac will be held at the headquarters of General Hunt, at Fort Adams, on Wednesday, September 6th, for the purpose of organizing an association. It will be remembered that General Hunt was chief of that department in the Army of the Potomac, and it is to be hoped that a highly successful gathering will be that of next week.

Real Estate Sales.—George W. Gibbs and others have sold a parcel of land, containing 128,660 feet situated on Gibbs and Rhode Island avenues, to Henry G. Marguand, of Newport for $32,165.

John S. Keeson and wife have sold to Nancy Richard, a lot of land, 100x100 feet, on Bowery street and Annandale road, for $3,000.

Military.—The Newport Artillery went through with "battalion movements," on the Parade last evening, and we have some doubts if they could "be-beaten" by any organization in the State. This company now numbers ninety seven men—not including officers. The several other military companies also are giving their time to the drill meetings so as to present a creditable appearance in Providence at the dedication of the Soldiers' Monument on the 16th of this month.

Runaway.—The horse attached to a market wagon belonging to Slocum & Black, and driven by a small colored boy, ran into the carriage of Mr. John M. Foster this afternoon, throwing out the coachman and badly damaging the carriage, one wheel being entirely destroyed. Slocum & Black's team became unmanageable somewhere in Mary St. and the driver jumped out and left it to its fate. Foster's carriage was standing in front of Hammett's building on Thames street. The horse attached to the market wagon was thrown down but we believe not injured, nor was any one harmed by the accident.

A Little too Soon.—There were a couple of fellows going about town this morning soliciting alms, on the plea of having been blown up and fatally injured in the explosion on board the Westfield, or Ocean Wave, or else smashed up in the collision at Revere, or on the Pennsylvania and Erie, we don't know which, but in some one or all of these places they pretend to have been nearly if not quite killed. In proof of which, one of the number shows an arm that may possibly have been burned years ago, but certainly has received no injury of late. They were quite successful for a time. But alas! for their enterprise, Mr. B. F. Davis, of Langley & Norman's informed them that they had returned too soon, as they were here two years ago with the same complaint. This put an end to their speculation in that quarter, and when last heard from, they were sneaking off up Mill street, bent on getting somewhere where they were not known that they might drive their business with better success.

A Sad Accident.—A young lady by the name of Lucy Candler, daughter of Mr. John W. Candler, of Boston, was drowned at Bateman's Beach, yesterday morning. She was in bathing with a party of about twenty ladies' and gentlemen', and it seems that she ventured out farther than the rest when suddenly the undertow took her and carried her away from the shore. She reached a rock, and there attempted to remain till assistance could reach her. Several men swam to her assistance, but before they could get there, the waves swept her off, and she was drowned before their eyes. Her body was recovered about six o'clock, last night, by Nathan King. Her father, who is a prominent merchant in Boston, was telegraphed to and he came on in the evening train, together with her uncle. The young lady was about sixteen years old, and was much beloved by all who knew her. Her mother and sister were in bathing with her, and were also in great danger from the surf. Her remains were taken to Boston, this morning, by Mr. Cottrell, the undertaker.

Light Ship.—The Brenton Reef Light Ship will be brought in, in a few days, to receive repairs, &c. She underwent some improvements last year, but as the season was late and the ship taking her place was not considered worthy for the rough weather off Brenton's Reef, she was obliged to return before the necessary improvements were completed.

Court of Justices.—The only complaint called up this morning before this Court, was one against Benjamin T. Peckham, shipwright, for burglariously breaking and entering the dwelling house of Charlotte Brown in the night time. The respondent waived an examination and was committed to jail to await the action of the Grand Jury at the ensuing Term of the Supreme Court, to be held here on the fifteenth instant.

Temperance Meeting.—The mass meeting at Rocky Point is attracting attention in Eastern Connecticut. The Willimantic Good Samaritans propose to send some twenty-five or thirty persons down there. At their meeting on Sunday evening, which was addressed by Revs. Mr. Conant, of Providence, Lewis, of Rockville, and Avery, of North Haven, a committee of ten ladies and gentlemen were appointed to arrange for the excursion. Rev. Dr. Tiffany, of New Jersey, and Rev. C. W. Darison, of the District of Columbia, have informed the committee that they will be present.

Bristol.

A correspondent writes, "Three young men Wm. Devoe, of New York, S. Tucker and F. Martin of Providence—the latter the son of Jacob H. Martin, of Providence, started in a small sail boat for Rocky Point about 1 1-2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The wind was blowing violently from the southeast, and the young gentlemen were incompetent to take charge of the boat in so severe a gale. When about half a mile from Papposesquaw Point the boat was upset. At first all three clung to the boat, but young Martin losing all presence of mind and so not heeding the advice of his companions endeavored to cling to a plank, but being unable to do so, was drowned immediately. The other two decided to attempt to swim ashore, and divesting themselves of their clothing, commenced the perilous undertaking. Young Devoe was an expert swimmer and reached the shore first, when, finding his friend Tucker becoming exhausted, returned so assist him, and succeeded in rescuing him from a watery grave. The affair has caused a deep feeling of sadness in that community. Young Martin has been boarding in Bristol during the summer, and although having been there but a short time, his genial and cheerful countenance, affable manners, and gentlemanly deportment had won for him a large number of friends in the community.

Mr. Edward Munro, of New Bedford, son of the late Bennett Munro, of Bristol, committed suicide in New Bedford, by taking laudanum; his remains were brought to his native town on the morning train today. Mr. M. was about sixty years of age.

Warren.

A correspondent to one of the Providence papers says, that the small pox which has had a strong hold upon the fears of that community is at last under control. No new cases are reported, and public excitement has abated. Not over three cases of genuine small pox have appeared, and one of those has been pronounced doubtful. The others are modified or low types of varioloid, and the patients are doing well; most of them are convalescent. Three deaths have occurred.

The town authorities have established a pest house on the banks of the Kickimuit river in the east part of the town, on what is known as the "Serpentine." Six cases of varioloid have been under treatment there.

Our Bristol friends have been particularly excited, and rumors "thick as leaves in Val ambroia" have filled the town. As the line dividing the towns runs through the thickly populated village of Warren, some four miles from Bristol proper, the attempt to establish an embargo is decidedly laughable.

This is the first instance in the memory of "ye oldest inhabitant" that Warren has suffered from any of the epidemics which send dismay and death into so many populous communities. The town is so situated that its sanitary condition is always well assured, and but for the culpable, and even criminal carelessness—to give it no worse term—of one man, Warren would have been spared this scene of disease and fright. It is to be hoped that our town authorities will make a thorough investigation of the question of capability, and, if mere recklessness was the cause, will let the law be fully enforced upon offenders.

The Dry Goods Trade.

Prospects for the Fall Business in New York.

The dry goods warehouses of the city have all received their fall stocks, and are busy supplying the retail trade with the new fabrics and novelties of the season. The season, however, is not far advanced enough yet to decide what the nature of the fall trade will be, although, hitherto the prospects seem to point to an average amount of business. Speculations are rife as to the probable effect of the Paris troubles upon trade, some maintaining that they must have a cheapening effect, while others and they the most numerous, believe that the prices of many kinds of Continental stuffs will be enhanced, but not sufficiently so to make much difference to the retail purchaser to whom the extra payment of a few dollars will not, as a rule, make an essential difference. The following will give some idea of the present state and prospects of the trade:

In fancy silks, striped goods will be inquired after, and the new style of American silks, Cheeny brand. In black and plain silks, the old prices continue much the same, and the demand for them appears to be greater than usual. The trade in velvets velveteens, and plushes, is in a very irregular condition, owing to the strike of the German workmen, which has advanced prices thirty per cent., and prevents the transaction of business. Manufacturers have orders which they are unable to fill. The shawl trade is very brisk, and two varieties in the market numerous. The advance in the price of woolen goods does not effect this trade, and perhaps there never were so many elegant designs offered to the public in a single season.

Ottoman stripes find a ready market in the West, and India shawls and French broches sell well all over the states. The principal novelties are the Metz and Gi[illegible] lotte, which are soft in texture and will be the principal favorites this fall. Cloth and velvet cloaks are this season being imported ready made in large quantities, and even cheaper than the domestic goods. The demand for seal skin cloaks exceed the supply at present. Astrachan cloaks are selling well. Street suits are being imported in quantities which indicate that the well informed believe them destined to be fashionable. A favorite article is velvet and poplin, trimmed with fur. The advance in wool makes the dealers in carpets and other woolen goods cautious in the extreme. The lower grades of carpeting will probably not be much affected in price, but the Hartford and Lowell brands, which are scarce, will fetch higher rates.—N. Y. Com. Adv.

How the Coreans Fight.

The following is an extract from a letter descriptive of a battle between the United States troops and the Coreans:

"All being ready the order was given to charge, when away went our boys with a yell, down the hill, across the ravine and up the slope toward the citadel, in a magnificent rush, in the face of a storm of shot. One of our landsmen got the lead, but gallant Lieutenant-Commander McKee was close after him. The landsman fell dead at the foot of the breastwork. McKee went over alone, gained the inside, and fell mortally wounded by spear and ballet. Lieutenant-Commander Schley was the second man in, and near enough to shoot the man who killed McKee, and who thrust his spear through Schley's coat. Lieutenant-Commander Casey was next in. Then it was pelmell, officers and men swarming over, and a scene of desperate hand-to-hand fighting took place. The Coreans fought with a courage and desperation that was wonderful, and their subjugation was a difficult task. They clubbed their guns, used swords and spears, threw stones, and one fellow while pinned to the ground, threw handfuls of dirt at the man who had him pinned down."

The detailed accounts of Southern newspapers show that the devastation caused by the recent cyclone was more extensive than the original dispatches indicated. At Jacksonville, Fla., trees innumerable were prostrated, business was almost entirely suspended, and the citizens collected in groups to watch the rise of the water, which in some streets were knee deep. The telegraph wires were prostrated, and the place was wholly cut off from communication with the rest of the world by rail as well as telegraph. At Savannah the streets looked like one vast lake, and the wind tore away every thing movable. The damage sustained by the public works in and about the city will probably not fall short of $100,000, and the injury done to the crops in the vicinity is immense. Many plantations were entirely submerged. In Charleston it was accounted the severest tempest since 1851. In thirty six hours fifty three inches of rain fell and the city was literally deluged, some of the inhabitants being obliged to remove their persons and property in high vehicles. It was the general impression among the negroes that the event was a direct consequence of Whagner's election. In North Carolina the storm, which was the most ruinous one known at the South for many years, reached its limit.

Newspaper Borrowers.

This wretched class of small parasites is again hit off by one of our exchanges, as follows:

'Of all things contemptible, a man who will read a paper at his neighbor's expense is the most contemptible; especially if that man esteems it his duty to lower papers collectively, and editors generally. They always meet the carrier first, snatch the paper, and after greedily devouring every morsel of news it contains, throw it aside, saying, with a contemptuous curl of the lip: 'what trash; it is really fit for nothing but waste paper.' And yet day after day they seem as anxious to gain possession of the paper, and seem as disappointed at its non-arrival as the good paying subscriber, whoever welcomes it as a pleasant visitor. Strange world this.'

We clip the above from an exchange and can testify to its truthfulness. We know just such men in Newport and the sharpest criticisms we ever hear of the Daily News comes from men who do not subscribe for it, and who read it regularly at their neighbors expense.

Wilted Down.

Ask the man who complains of "wilting down" in torrid weather what he has done to enable his system under the extra strain imposed on his vitality. He may tell you that he has tried a variety of cathartics to purify his blood and brighten his spirits. Under such treatment, of course, his strength has given way, and his energies have become exhausted. What he requires is a restorative, not a depletant. His blood is thin; his nerves have lost their natural tension, and nature demands to be renovated and reinforced. The means is within the reach of all. For nearly a score of years, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has been building up broken down constitutions, bracing and strengthening attenuated frames, and affording comfort, ease, and hope to thousands. As a preventive of the epidemics which make such havoc with the health of the inhabitants of new settlements, this famous tonic is certainly without a rival. Perhaps the principal portion of its world-wide fame is attributable to its astonishing cures of dyspepsia, and all forms of bilious [illegible]. But these are not a moiety of its triumphs. All types of billiousness yield to its persistent use. It is a [illegible] nating medicine of the highest order, and its effect upon the secretions, which it regulates, is [illegible].

Imposition of the grossest character is sought to be practiced upon the community by vendors who recommend under the name of "Bitters," [illegible] compounds of a dangerous character, which they attempt to substitute for the great national tonic. Shun all such nostrums, and see that you have the genuine Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, properly authenticated by label, name and stamp, and [illegible] bottles only.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 11, 1870.

I have used "Dr. Bullock's Nephreticum" for several months past for a disease of the Kidneys and Bladder of ten years standing. During all that long and gloomy period I suffered at times attacks of the most excruciating pains and tried all kinds of medicines and many eminent physicians, with little relief at times, yet with no permanent, lasting benefit. At last I was induced to try "Nephreticum," and after continuing its use for a considerable period of time, I began to be benefited, and now I feel satisfied that I have obtained permanent, and, I trust, lasting relief. I still take "Nephreticum" and give to my friends. For a year past I have had no severe attacks of disease. I feel it has given me a new lease of life, and I most cheerfully and confidently recommend "Nephreticum" as a reliable, safe and sure remedy for diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys.

Consumption,

ITS CURE AND ITS PREVENTIVE,

By J. H. SCHENCK, M. D.

Many a human being has passed away, for whose death there was no other reason than the neglect of known and indisputably proved means of cure. Those near and dear to family and friends are sleeping the dreamless slumber into which, had they calmly adopted and availed themselves of his wonderfully efficacious medicines, they would not have fallen.

Dr. Schenck has in his own case proven that wherever sufficient vitality remains, that vitality, by his medicines and his directions for their use, is quickened into healthful vigor.

In this statement there is nothing presumptuous. To the faith of the invalid is made no representation that is not a thousand times substantiated by living and visible works. The theory of the cure by Dr. Schenck's medicines is as simple as it is unfailing. Its philosophy requires no argument. It is self-assuring, self-convincing.

The Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills are the first two weapons with which the citadel of the malady is assailed. Two-thirds of the cases of consumption originate in dyspepsia and a functionally disordered liver. With this condition the bronchial tubes "sympathize" with the stomach. They respond to the morbific action of the liver. Here, then comes the culminating result, and the setting in, with all its distressing symptoms, of

CONSUMPTION.

The Mandrake Pills are composed of one of Nature's noblest gifts—the Podophillum Peltatum. They possess all the blood-searching, alterative properties of calomel, but unlike calomel, they

"LEAVE NO STING BEHIND."

The work of cure is now beginning. The vitiated and mucous deposits in the bowels and in the alimentary canal are ejected. The liver, like a clock, is wound up. It arouses from its torpidity. The stomach acts responsively, and the patient begins to feel that he is getting, at last,

A SUPPLY OF GOOD BLOOD.

The Seaweed Tonic, in conjunction with the Pills, permeates and assimilates with the food. Chylification is now progressing, without its previous tortures. Digestion becomes painless, and the cure is seen to be at hand. There is no more flatulence, no exacerbation of the stomach. An appetite sets in.

Now comes the greatest Blood Purifier ever yet given by an indulgent father to suffering man. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup comes in to perform its functions and to hasten and complete the cure. It enters at once upon its work. Nature cannot be cheated. It collects and ripens the impaired and diseased portions of the lungs. In the form of gatherings it prepares them for expectoration, and lo! in a very short time the malady is vanquished, the rotten throne that it occupied is renovated and made new, and the patient, in all the dignity of regained vigor, steps forth to enjoy the manhood or womanhood that was GIVEN UP AS LOST.

The second thing is, the patients must stay in a warm room until they get well; it is almost impossible to prevent taking cold when the lungs are diseased, but it must be prevented or a cure cannot be effected. Fresh air and riding out, especially in this section of the country in the fall and winter season, are all wrong. Physicians who recommend that course lose their patients, if their lungs are badly diseased; and yet, because they are in the house they must not sit down quiet; they must walk about the room as much and as fast as the strength will bear, to get up a good circulation of blood. The patients must keep in good spirits—be determined to get well. This has a great deal to do with the appetite, and is the great point to gain.

To despair of cure after such evidence of its possibility in the worst cases, and moral certainty in all others, is sinful. Dr. Schenck's personal statement to the Faculty of his own cure was in these modest words:

"Many years ago I was in the last stages of consumption; confined to my bed, and at one time my physicians thought that I could not live a week; then like a drowning man catching at straws, I heard of, and obtained the preparations which I now offer to the public, and they made a perfect cure of me. It seemed to me that I could feel them penetrate my whole system. They soon ripened the matter in my lungs, and I would spit up more than a pint of offensive yellow matter every morning for a long time. As soon as that began to subside, my cough, fever, pains and night sweats all began to leave me, and my appetite became so great that it was with difficulty that I could keep from eating too much. I soon gained my strength, and have grown in flesh ever since."

"I was weighed shortly after my recovery," added the Doctor, "then looking like a mere skeleton; my weight was only ninety-seven pounds; my present weight is two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds, and for years I have enjoyed uninterrupted health."

Dr. Schenck has discontinued his professional visits to New York and Boston. He or his son, Dr. J. H. Schenck, Jr., still continue to see patients at their office, No. 15 North Sixth street, Philadelphia, every Saturday from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged $5. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not.

The directions for taking the medicines are adapted to the intelligence even of a child. Follow these directions, and kind Nature will do the rest, excepting that in some cases the Mandrake Pills are to be taken in increased doses; the three medicines need no other accompaniments than the ample instructions that accompany them: First, create appetite. Of returning health hunger is the most welcome symptom. When it comes, as it will come, let the despairing at once be of good cheer. Good blood at once follows, the cough loosens, the night sweat is abated. In a short time both of these morbid symptoms are gone forever.

Dr. Schenck's medicines are constantly kept in tens of thousands of families. As a laxative or purgative, the Mandrake Pills are a standard preparation, while the Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure of coughs and colds, may be regarded as a prophylacteric against consumption in any of its forms.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Seaweed Tonic $1.50 a bottle, or $7.50 a half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents a box. For sale by all druggists and dealers.

A Desirable Farm for Sale at Auction.

THE BENJAMIN WEAVER PLACE, of about thirty (30) acres, will be offered at auction, in three sections, and as a whole, on SATURDAY, the 2d day of September, at 12 o'clock, M., if fair, if not, the first fair day of the following week.

This Farm is situated just three (3) miles from the city of Newport, on the West Main Road, on the front of "Weaver's Hill" and is the first of a range of farms that must soon become eligible to the stretch of the wealthy seekers for healthy, elevated, airy, and pleasant retiring country-seats, a little removed from the Ocean fogs.

Having a long road front it may be divided into three sections, each having an Ocean and West Bay out-look and equal advantages as to a desirable building site.

It affords a rare chance for any one in want of a country-seat, and will be sold at a price to warrant (by its prospective increase in value) the attention of the speculator.

For particulars call at the Gould House, No. 50 Broad street, or on J. G. Weaver, Ocean House.

SIR:—I have examined the GUARDIAN LIGHTNING ROD AND POINTS, constructed of Galvanized Iron with spiral twist, copper couplings and gilded points and consider it to be constructed on scientific principles, and to afford efficient protection against damage by lightning.

Yours, respectfully,

Builders Should Use

Glass Window Pulleys

In preference to Iron, because first: On every dozen hanging sash weighing 12 lbs. each, they save 18 lbs. of weight, costing from 45 to 50 cents, screws 7 cents, and labor in fitting at least 50 cents more, making $1.07. In fact Glass Pulleys at $1 per dozen are cheaper than iron at one cent!

Second—The occupants of houses where they are used will never be annoyed by the creaking of rusty iron pulleys, or by the cord getting out of place, or broken. This is a case when the very cheapest are the very best.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN PATENTS

R. H. EDDY

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions, Trade Marks, or Designs,

No. 76 State St., opp. Kilby St. Boston.

AFTER an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms, with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a Patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part, leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges.
JOHN TAGGART."

Boston, Jan. 1, 1871.—1yr.

Scientific.

The geology of the White mountains is most intricate. It is not known whether its granite and slate rocks are of Laurentian, Silurian, or Devonian age alone, or whether all of these formations may not be represented.

Chloral was discovered by Liebig in 1840, but remained a scientific curiosity on the shelves of the laboratories of Europe until about two years ago, when Dr. Liebreich, of Berlin, made known its value as an anaesthetic to the medical profession.

A plate of glass measuring one hundred superficial feet was recently silvered at St. Helen's, Lancashire, England, by a new process, by which the mirror was completed in forty hours, instead of in ten days, which would have been required according to the old methods.

The best scientific authorities recommend tin-lined lead pipes as an admirable invention and well adapted for supplying water in a pure condition, and as a means of rendering the water supply free from the dangerous lead taint with which it is now so frequently affected.

Mr. C. F. Varley, the electrician, ventures to suppose that earthquakes may be sometimes due to electrical shocks. The suggestion is derived from the fact that during the earthquakes of March 17, powerful currents of electricity were flowing through the telegraph cables toward England.

The sap of the ink plant, which grows in New Granada, is adopted without any preparation, says the London Chemist, for the purpose of writing. It shows at first on paper a reddish tint, but after a few hours becomes a deep black. Steel pens are much less affected by this sap than by ordinary ink. The virtue of the plant seems to have been discovered by the Spaniards.

Psychomancy Is Derived from the Greek signifying the power of the soul, spirit or mind, and is the basis of all human knowledge. Psychomancy is the title of a new work of 400 pages, by HERBERT HAMILTON, B. A., giving full instructions in the science of Soul Charming and Psychologic Fascination; how to exert this wonderful power over men or animals at will. It teaches Mesmerism, how to become Trance or Writing Mediums, Divination, Spiritualism, Alchemy, Philosophy of Omens and Dreams, Brigham Young's Harem, Guide to Marriage, &c. This is the only book in the English language professing to teach this occult power, and is of immense advantage to Merchants, Lawyers, Physicians, and especially to Lovers, in securing the affections of the opposite sex, and all seeking riches or happiness.
